LONG FOND DREAM.

Automobile Route Round This Island.

Eben P. Low, the well-known ranchman, is spending some time in town. Yesterday he gave a heart to heart talk to Superintendent of Public Works, J. H. Boyd and Treasurer W. H. Wright on the subject of the main road through Waimea. This is a part of the wagon route clear round the Island of Hawaii which was promised to be opened up, immediately if not sooner, away back in the days of monarchy. Upon parts of the route, many years ago, some fine examples of engineering were carried out across vast gulches. These works are visible from the deck of the steamer running to Hilo and are not excelled in physical difficulties surmounted by the Nuuanu pali highway.

Yet the road encircling the big island is still a dream. There is a missing link, which is what rests upon Mr. Low's mind and the minds of all who are interested in the development of the country. In one direction the completed road comes near Low's ranch at Waimea and stops, in the other direction near the Huumula sheep station and stops. Stops for the lack of energy in successive administrations throughout various forms of government, waits now for money in the treasury which the country has abundant means to place there if it had but the way.

The missing link is only ten miles long and at present has not to show even a decent bridge trail. Mr. Low was asked, in presence of the chief public spender and the chief public provider, what it would cost to build this piece of road. He said that $17,000 would do it. Were there not difficult lava flows to traverse? No. One of the built ends already crossed the formidable winnow of lava created by the flow of 1801. There was not more than a mile of passage to be broken through the flow of 1859. This would be the most expensive portion. For the rest the rock was aa, which lent itself capitolly to road building.

With the ten miles mentioned constructed, there would be a carriage road from Kohala into the Kona. The dream of a carriage road around Hawaii would be fulfilled.

Mr. Low wished that he might have the pleasure of entertaining some newspaper men of Honolulu at the ranch, so that incidentally the woes of through his bailiwick might be made manifest to the people of the whole group. "I would treat you right," Mr. Low said. "I would see that the horse you rode was not one of the bucking kind."—Honolulu Bulletin.

Were They Talking of Dole?

A year ago Senator Cullom of Illinois was credited with remarking upon the vociferousness of President Roosevelt, who, as is well known, does not hesitate to speak loudly while holding conferences with his visitors.

Yesterday morning Mr. Cullom went to the White House. As soon as he appeared in the President's reception-room, the President saw him and walked over to him. With much solemnity, Mr. Cullom took Mr. Roosevelt over into a corner of the room and whispered inaudibly into his ear for five minutes. The President listened with smiling countenance.

"All right, Senator," he said in a loud voice when Mr. Cullom had finally concluded his confidential communication, "nobody shall ever hear what I say to you in the future."

"But how about this particular matter?" queried the anxious Senator.

The President put his finger to his lips. "Sh-u-u-h!" he whispered, "not a word! Somebody might hear us."

And so the Senator went away. He does not know yet what the President might have said.—Washington Post.

SENT TO PRISON.

Connor O'Kelly, Member of Parliament, is Among Them.

Castlebar (Ireland), Dec. 18.—The hearing of the charges of holding meetings and delivering intimidating speeches in defiance of the police brought against Connor O'Kelly, M. P., Chairman of the Mayo Council, and several other officials of Mayo county was concluded today. Mr. O'Kelly was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and four other defendants were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from a fortnight to a month. All the sentences imposed were without hard labor.

The Court refused the demand of the defendants for leave to appeal from the jurisdiction of the court. The refusal of the Court was due to the fact that the defendants refused to promise not to speak publicly in the interim.

London, Dec. 19.—The sentences of Connor O'Kelly and the other officials of County Mayo at Castlebar are likely to be the beginning of further trouble in Ireland. The sentences were secured under the old Crimes Act of 1887, which has long been dormant. The "Chronicle," which was not unfriendly to the Government, reminds the Ministers of the lack of wisdom in such prosecutions and says that the real remedy required is a new land act, owing to the fact that the land commissioners are fixing rents too high in the west of Ireland districts, where a great deal of misery still prevails. This statement is testified to by Thomas Russell, Parliamentary Secretary for the local Government Board, as well as by the Nationalists.

WARSHIPS TO VENEZUELA.

Germany Hesitates About Attacking Monroe Doctrine of America.

Washington, Dec. 17.—There is no official warrant for the published statement that Germany has declared specifically to the United States its intention with regard to the proposed seizure of a Venezuelan port or other territory to be held pending a settlement of Venezuela's debts to Germany.

On the contrary, Germany is placidly resting on the broad generalized declaration of the message of President Roosevelt as to the meaning of the Monroe doctrine and is satisfied that any exactions she may make of Venezuela will be guaranteed by that declaration.

The status of the relations between the United States and Germany as to the latter's movements against Venezuela is as it has been stated in the Hearst newspapers.

The Sunday Volcano.

Wm. H. Marshal has sold the Sunday Volcano, to Messrs Ayers and Sabin, two well known newspaper men in Honolulu. Mr. Marshal goes to Manila to join C. O. Ziegenfuss a journalistic twin spirit. The Volcano under Mr. Marshal's editorship was a Voice crying in the wilderness. Under its new management, it will be a clever weekly, entitled to the confidence and support of the capital city.

John Cathcart.

Deputy Attorney General Cathcart arrived by the Kinau last Tuesday to undertake the prosecution of cases for the government in the Fourth Circuit Court. Mr. Cathcart has a reputation which preceded his latest advent to Hilo. He is the hardest worked man in the Dole government. Cathcart has mastered all the intricacies of a term criminal calendar regardless of the races at Hoolulu Park and regardless of Berger's music. Cathcart knows as much now of the criminology of Hawaii for the past six months as an ordinary man or lawyer knows who has lived here while all the devilry happened.
